CLASSMATES:

To acquaint you with a few facts concerning the workings of your 1968 Reunion Committee, we present this epistle.

After contacting many members we came up with a hard working crew consisting of:

Jean Fratus Quintiliani
Gertrude Collins Barry
Mary Lou Glover McDonald
Mae Fillingim D'Angelo
Marie Haraldstad Hallberg
Helen Thomson Marsden
Margaret Young Capaccioli
Janet Fratus Gay
Jack Hendricks
Howard Naumann
Neil McDonald
John Gray

to whom we give our heartfelt thanks for their unexcelled accomplishments.

Hours were spent locating and notifying class members, articles were sent to many newspapers in Boston, Quincy and vicinity; our kind Radio Station W.J.D.A. mentioned us daily to its listening audience. We cannot forget Ken Coleman and station W H D H for all their publicity, we shall always be grateful. We still, however, were unable to obtain many addresses. We wish, therefore, to ask you to pass on our apologies to any classmates you might meet who were not contacted.

In view of the many address changes over a five year period, will you kindly detach and save the attached slip, mailing it to us if your address is changed. This will enable your committee to keep an up-to-date mailing list.

As we go to press October lst, we wonder about our many classmates who did not return their questionnaires. The information in this 25th Reunion Class Book was compiled from questionnaires returned to us, leaving a possibility of omission due to lack of data.

Sadly, thirteen class members are now deceased, some in the service of our country.

The Reunion Committee wishes each of you continued success; and, as our own children become adults before our eyes we hope these reunions help to recapture the friendships that were ours during those brief school years.

In conclusion, we wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to Leo and James Cavanaugh, owners of the Charles River Press for this Memory Book. Without them, it would have been impossible.

Sincerely,

Gertrude Collins Barry

DEDICATED . . . . .

to all the boys from North who are in uniform

THE CHALLENGE OF "43"

The days slipped quickly onward,
The busy months flew fast;
Six full years of wonder
Swept like a whirlwind past.

We're coming now, "Old Glory,"
We're coming to your aid,
We're coming marching faster,
So your honor will not fade.

We'll be the fighting soldiers,
Keepers of liberty.
We'll fight our best for freedom
Unto eternity.

Mold our learning into bullets,
Our knowledge into guns;
For we must fight with vengeance,
So the battle can be won.

Youth marches firmly onward,
Not bearing death and sorrow.
But filled with dreams and courage,
The builders of tomorrow.

NATALIE FISHER.

A Class Reunion and you can't decide
If you should go, or let it ride?
Take it from me, don't let it slide--GO!

I dressed up in style, wearing
a smile
Walked in with my eyes aglow,
Pinned a badge on my chest,
smiled at a guest
And was stopped by a man
labelled "Joe".

His eyes traveled down with an earnest frown
Until he quickly spotted my name.
We both decided, and both confided
We definitely looked just the same!

Then I turned to see, coming toward me
A gal in lavender lace.
She gave me a whack on the small of
my back
(In athletics she'd taken first place).

1968

All the girls looked slim, youthful and trim
I danced with my first wished for beau.
It occurred to me, it can't possibly be
So many years ago!

The boy voted "ready to go the most steady"
Arrived, with no one along.
While that boy in tweed, voted "least to succeed"
Was a V.I.P. - going strong.

Snaps were exchanged of children who ranged,
From a mere three years through the teens,
I wondered who's free
In the Class of '43.

There were those who came from a spot in Maine,
From Kansas, and towns nearby.
Their voices were strong as they sang the school son
That announced we were North Quincy High.
